Public History Internships – Fort Meigs Historic Site
Perrysburg, Ohio

Paid Graduate Internship
Step beyond the classroom and into history. Fort Meigs Historic Site, one of the most significant War of 1812 landmarks in the nation, is offering paid Public History Internships. This is a unique opportunity to gain hands-on professional experience at a dynamic historic site while helping bring Ohio's past to life for tens of thousands of visitors each year.

What You'll Do
Interns will work directly with museum professionals on meaningful projects in areas such as:

- Public programming and education
- Special events and living history demonstrations
- Community engagement and outreach
- Museum operations and nonprofit management
- Student-led academic research and public history projects

This internship is designed to provide real-world experience to strengthens resumes, build professional networks, and prepare students for careers in the public history field.

Why Fort Meigs?
As the largest reconstructed wooden fortification in North America, Fort Meigs is more than a museum, it's a living classroom. Interns will collaborate with experienced staff historians while contributing to a nationally accredited historic site. Your work will have visible, lasting impact on how visitors experience and understand the events that happened at Fort Meigs in the War of 1812.
